IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF MONTANA

correctly noted that it was inconsistent for the Objectors to contend the transfer of title was invalid while at the same time claiming no valid transfer occurred.

At the evidentiary hearing on the Joint Motion to approve the settlement, the admissible evidence was unchallenged that Thorco's debt to Whitefish Credit Union was reasonably equivalent to the properties' value at the time the deeds were recorded, Thorco was not rendered insolvent by the recordings, and settlement of the claims in the Adversary Proceeding was proposed in good faith.

The contention that there is a WCU judgment against Thorntons that prevents Thorco from obtaining financing. Of course, this contention has no bearing whatsoever on the proposed settlement of a fraudulent conveyance claim but only relates to Dennis Thornton's obsession with blaming WCU for his financial troubles. To be clear, as WCU has repeatedly stated on the record: there is not and has never been a monetary judgment in favor of WCU against either Thorco or Thorntons based on a mortgage foreclosure. The foreclosure action that was filed in 2012 was settled and dismissed with prejudice without a final judgment ever having been entered.

The actions Thorntons and Thorco filed against WCU in 2018 and 2019 resulted in judgments in favor of WCU. The fact that there is a court record of a foreclosure action is not a record of a judgment. Thorco's and Thornton's inability to obtain a loan likely stems not from some imaginary judgment in favor of WCU
